EXPERIENCE

Bakute restaurant (June 2017 – August 2017)

In charge of servicing and cashier duties. Even though it was a relatively small private-owned business, my time at Bakute has given me a glimpse into a proper work structure, workflow, and the responsibilities that a practical job entails.

Wrap n' Roll (February 2019 -June 2019)

Kitchen helper and cross-branch assistance. During my work at Wrap n' Roll, a famous traditional chain restaurant, I have had to undergo intense work pressure and responsibilities, thus familiarizing myself with the potentially harsh working environment. Furthermore, I was able to observe the managerial practices of my superiors and seeing them put to use in a practical scenario.

Thu Duc Post office (July 2018: 2 weeks)

A temporary data entry position at the local post office has allowed me to immerse myself within the corporate structure of office work, as well as familiarizing myself with various software that I had to use in the meantime.

AIC – Asia Industrial Chemical joint stock company internship (July 6th, 2022 – August 31st, 2022)

An internship position in the sales department at AIC of Asia Group, where my duties included various sales activities such as client searching, client meeting and follow through, among others. My time at AIC has helped me gain a deeper insight into a sales position of a big corporation, as well as putting to the test and improving my time/workload management, research & analytical, business computing and corporate writing skills.

Office of International Academic Collaboration of International University; English teaching assistance/tutor (December 2022 – May 2023)

A part-time position taken up shortly after concluding my educational program, at the OIAC department in HCMC International University. At the same time, I was offered and took up a job as a teaching assistance and tutor for the Intensive English program at IU, further improving my practice in the English language and teaching field.

Language Line Solutions interpretation (May 5, 2023 – October 2023)

My latest employment opportunity was as an over-the-phone interpreter for organizations (governmental or otherwise) in the US that work with Vietnamese citizens residing in America. My fields of specialty include: medical, banking, insurance, social security, law enforcement, etc. I was trained in interacting and facilitating communication for US based organizations, including but not limited to hospitals, police departments, banks, and insurance offices. The nature of my work also meant to I had to familiarize with working a night shift.

I have undergone an exam and acquired a C1 certification by Cambridge (formerly known as Advanced Certificate in English, or CAE), and more recently achieved a band score of 8.5 in IELTS. I was selected to attend International University through the outstanding results in my English aptitude test, among other test results.

I have been trained in English at a young age and have furthered my English proficiency in all available fields, including listening, reading, written communication, professional writing and verbal communication to a point i can confidently state that my English is of a higher standard.
